

Volant Flier In Battle With Nazi Above Germany

Lt. R. L. Pherson Wins New Acclaim For Service With U. S. Air Force

AN EIGHTH AAF FIGHTER STATION, England—A dog-fight 15,000 feet above Lingen, Germany, has netted First Lt. Robert L. Pherson, 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Pherson, Volant, Pa., credit for damage to a Nazi fighter.

Thunderbolt element leader with Col. Tacon's fighter group now escorting U. S. bombers, Lt. Pherson engaged the twin-engine enemy aircraft as it was diving down on him. He completed a full turn to his left to set in a burst that brought him along the Nazi's right wing.

Once during the dog-fight in which Lt. Pherson and his flight were beating off an attack directed against the bombers they were escorting, Pherson found himself surrounded by four of the Nazi fighters.

"I took the nearest one and turned right into him, but he dove quickly into clouds and disappeared," Pherson reported.

A weather forecaster in civilian life, Lt. Pherson enlisted in September, 1938; won his "wings" March 20, 1943. He has already been awarded the Air Medal and clusters for meritorious flights over Germany and the occupied countries in his Thunderbolt.

Airborne Troops Landing Behind Jap Burma Lines

NEW DELHI, March 17.—(INS)—Airborne troops of the American-trained Chinese army in Northern Burma have landed "successfully" behind enemy lines, an official communiqué from Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters today.

The landing by 14th Army units was made east of the North Tiddimkabaw valley sectors of the Chin hills, where enemy columns continued to make progress.

Huge Craters Are Found In Cassino

NAPLES, March 17.—(INS)—So devastating was Wednesday's record aerial blow at Cassino that Allied troops fighting their way through that town today were forced to build temporary spans over 40-foot craters filled with water to enable their tanks to rumble into action.

For one exceptionally large crater, a 70-foot-long bridge was built, official spokesmen at Allied headquarters revealed.

It is the repair work of this type, as much as Nazi opposition, which has held up the speed of the advance, they added.

CRITICS OF ITALIAN CAMPAIGN ASSAILED

soil in no single place have the Nazis had the great advantages of terrain, in addition to the worst weather, that they possess in Italy. In the Soviet campaigns, German troops will not have such ideal defense positions until they fall back to the Carpathian mountains. Who can tell what the relation the Italian campaign bears to the coming invasion of Western Europe?

Assists Invasion Plans

But one thing is a certainty, the Italian campaign has assisted in the preparation of that coming invasion and the Soviet war effort far more than could have normally been expected.

The same condition applies to any further offensive actions that the Allies may be planning in any portion of southern Europe. If any of the many civilian critics could live the war that is now being fought on any battle front, they would have a much greater realization of the tremendous and outstanding successes that have been accomplished by the Allied forces.

Since November 8, 1942—the date of the Anglo-American landings in northwestern Africa, not a single serious set-back has been suffered by the Allies. Such a record of success in itself is unbelievable.

On the Italian peninsula, the Allied bridgehead is, of course, directly related to the Fifth and Eighth armies' positions facing the Gustav line. Success on either front will mean success for both.

The fall of Cassino will force at least a serious withdrawal of the entire Gustav line. Therefore, the Nazis are fighting with the fury of desperation. But that's not the unexpected. Every Allied leader has warned of the terrific fighting that is in front of our armed services.

American push. At last reports, however, the advance was still continuing, backed by at least one contingent of reinforcements.

Today's advances came, fittingly, on the second anniversary of the arrival in Australia of General MacArthur who in that period has pushed the Japanese back some 500 miles from their point of farthest advance. Extensive ceremonies were held throughout the commonwealth today in honor of the American leader, now serving as supreme allied commander in the southwest Pacific.

Reds Prepare For Pskov Area Drive

fighting, the Allies wrested from the Nazis every inch of the bomb-pocked city with the exception of the southwestern edge where the Nazis utilized the shells of buildings as strongpoints and sniped nests.

On Anzio Beachhead

On the Anzio beachhead to the northwest, three small enemy attacks were beaten back, while on the Eighth Army front flanking the Adriatic patrols "were very active," Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson announced. Casualties were inflicted on the enemy in that region.

In the hills west of Cassino, Fifth Army troops made short advances against equally-stiff enemy resistance. The Nazis were obstinately resisting from the ruined Monastery overlooking the Liri valley and surrounding areas.

In order to deny the Germans full use of this vantage point, Allied artillery fired smoke shells which blanketed the abbey with a pall.

The air force, continuing to cooperate with the ground troops, pounded Nazi gun installations at Ponte Corvo and Piedmonte, northwest of Cassino. Fighter-bombers plastered Esperia, on the lower Garigliano river front, where active patrolling continued. Several skirmishes were reported in the latter region.

Suicidal Resistance

Suicidal German resistance and debris-strewn streets in which still remained many unexploded mines, combined to slow the Allied advance of tank-led infantrymen. Nazi suicide squads utilized every available rubble heap as a firing post and fighting was a reported raging with fierce intensity in the small section of the city still under enemy control.

German resistance was centered in the northwest and southwest tips of the city. Outside Cassino itself, on the slopes of Mount Cassino (Abbey Hill), other Allied Infantry companies wormed their way toward the summit under cover of a rolling artillery barrage from several hundred British and American guns.

Overhead, unopposed Allied planes formed a protective blanket for the advancing ground units in both these important sectors.

Already the Allies have advanced more than half-way up Mount Cassino.

HITLER FORCES LOSE 125 PLANES ON THURSDAY

An important junction point on the main line to Abbeville, some 35 miles to be northwest.

No Planes Missing

Speedy Mustang bombers tabbed also at unexpected objectives in western Germany and sowed mines in enemy waters, the air ministry added.

Not a single plane was lost in the attacks.

The sweeps followed on the heels of record Allied raids in which an estimated 10,000 tons of bombs were dropped in a 36-hour period. Some 8,000 individual sorties were flown during that hectic period.

Included among the latest intensified phase of the Anglo-American aerial offensive was yesterday's all-American raid on important war factories in southern Germany.

Drives of escorting American fighter planes, according to an official announcement, shot down at least 76 enemy interceptors in the massive attack which enemy radios said was directed against Augsburg and Ulm. The two south German cities are sites of factories producing U-boat engines, planes, motor vehicles and other war materials.

London, March 17.—(INS)—Large formations of Allied aircraft flew over the southeast coast of England shortly after 2 p. m. (9 a. m. EWT) today, indicating heavy bombardment of the continent.

Several streams of planes apparently went out simultaneously.

The German agency DNB meanwhile reported that American bombers had flown over the Alps into German territory at noon.

POSSIBLE FACTOR IN WAR'S END

POPULAR OPINION on the length of the war in Europe has been revised. A few months ago most people in the United States thought that the war would be over by Christmas. Now, despite the spectacular advances of the Russians, most people are fearful that the war may not be over by next Christmas. The slow progress in Italy to date has been in part the cause of this change in popular opinion, although our air raids have been devastating.

But the public may be as unduly pessimistic now as it was over-optimistic in the fall of 1943. True enough, as this is being written we do not seem to be making any too much headway against what was popularly known as "the soft underbelly of Europe." At the same time things might change rapidly. When the invasion of Europe comes from the west it will come suddenly and unexpectedly. It may within a few weeks change the entire outlook of the war.

Then there is another element which must be considered in taking a perspective of the situation, and it is an element which will not make itself felt until the invasion actually commences. That is the underground movement in Nazi-occupied Europe.

It is said that in Germany there are now 12,000,000 alien employees. These men and women are forced to work to help provide food and other supplies for the Nazi armies, and they are in addition to the hostile natives in the occupied countries. They are so numerous in many parts of the Reich that timid folks are afraid to go out of doors alone after nightfall. People are especially perturbed as to what these aliens might do in case of an aerial attack on the community.

Now when the signal for revolt comes, and it will doubtless come after a successful invasion of France, it is easy to see what kind of trouble the Nazis will be at home. They will have to contend not only with the enemy at the front but with the hostile people of the occupied lands. Then as the invaders approach Germany it is easy to see how these 12,000,000 workers will begin to start sabotaging in real earnest.

A collapse of German morale may come therefore even if the people now do have food and the army has supplies. It may easily come because of the fifth column at home.

Therefore when the end of the war in Europe looms into view it may approach with greater speed than the average person now hopes.

DECLINE OF ARGENTINA

A gauge of Argentina's dilemma is to be found in the recollection that formerly that country prided itself on its political stability. In the last nine months four different persons have occupied the presidential chair, three of them generals. Thus Argentina now is on a level with other rooster feather Latin American countries where any general with a modicum of ammunition and a handful of soldiers has been able to become president.

This will have an effect on Argentina that can hardly be strengthened. There can be little confidence in administrations that prove so fleeting. Army discipline also has suffered. Some of the recent decisive acts have been brought about by small groups of excited lieutenants and captains. Amazed Argentines have been hearing colonels calling generals liars.

The picture is one of recession of Argentine power and prestige. Argentina asserts its intention to bring about solidarity with other Latin countries, but every time a president moves in that direction he is fired. Argentina is now a weak, vacillating nation with a clique of pro-Axis militarists at the helm.

THE SMALL NATIONS

Ireland's rejection of the invitation by the United States to assume neutrality and move over into the Allied orbit emphasizes the fact that the political progress of the war lags behind military progress.

Not long ago there were high hopes that Hitler was about to meet his greatest diplomatic reverses which would see Finland out of the war and the entrance of Turkey as the prelude to the collapse of Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary. Spain seemed to be veering toward the Allied side. The political reaction inside Italy was expected to be more pronounced than it proved to be.

Now all these potential developments are hanging fire. Finland has rejected Russian terms, Turkey has no present intention of getting into the war and Hitler's Balkan satellites have no avenue of escape from the Axis. Spain is welded to Germany as securely as ever.

Perhaps a factor in all this is an impression that America, Britain and Russia do not see eye to eye on war aims. The Atlantic Charter drew America and Britain together on certain broad principles. Russia later joined at Teheran in an enumeration of similar breadth. These statements have never been clarified in their application to specific problems. As a result small nations seem to be unconvinced of the ability of America, Britain and Russia to back a postwar program unitedly.

In view of United Nations' progress on the battlefronts, the small nations should be flocking to their standard at every opportunity. When the door was opened wide to Ireland and Turkey, they declined. This is evidence that the diplomatic front is weaker than the military front.

Maize, whose boy friend has gone to camp, says she doesn't intend to sit under the apple tree with anyone else but him—at least not until the trees are blooming.

When asked whether his mother was making good at her new job in a war plant, little John said proudly, "She sure can throw a hot rivet."

It is true you can fool some of the people all of the time. For instance there is the fellow who persists in going out on blind dates.

Now when Congress and the Treasury department devise an income tax form which is easy to understand, let 'em make an income tax that is easy to pay. Then everybody will be satisfied.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—For so long officials here in Washington have been talking about scraping the bottom of the manpower barrel that the seriousness of the present situation is hardly appreciated. It is a matter now of who grabs first, and everybody is grabbing.

War Production Board Chief Donald Nelson and Manpower Commissioner Paul McNutt, had to carry a last minute appeal to President Roosevelt. The draft was about to catch up with certain key men in industry. The loss could actually stymie some complex war industries.

A day or two before Nelson went to the White House, Bradley Dewey, boss of synthetic rubber production, had come to Nelson in desperation. Certain technicians were about to be drafted and if they were taken synthetic rubber plants might have to close down.

Highly Specialized

In rubber, in high octane gasoline, and in radar, most of the men who have the know-how are under 30, and many are under 25. They have come out of highly specialized technical courses in our engineering schools to step almost at once into these new industries. Older men simply have not had the training and background.

Some of the skilled workers under 26 was bad enough. But when Nelson and Dewey saw their key technicians being drafted, they realized that something had to be done. As few as 20 men out of some plants would cripple a vital war industry.

That is industry's side. The military has another story to tell and it has the same overtones of urgency.

The age levels in infantry divisions have been moving up in spite of everything the general staff could do. They were moving downward for a time and then they began to climb back.

Combat experience in this war has shown that older men simply cannot take it. If they get through the rigorous training period, the exhaustion and strain of the front are certain to catch up with them. And more and more it is being demonstrated that the heavy burden falls on the walking soldier.

For the action of the War Department in abruptly ending the army specialized training program in American colleges. The step was taken with extreme reluctance. The harsh necessity, however, was for young men with fighting stamina.

And that is still the need today. In face of this need, the military planners, responsible for the conduct of the war have had to face political interference with the working of the draft system over the necessity of drafting fathers.

Above and beyond that, however, is the failure to plan and organize the manpower problem as a single indivisible whole. I can't help but recall the early days when Bernard Baruch was called before the House and Senate committees to testify on this very problem.

Meet Army's Needs
Baruch had spent years thinking out the steps to be taken to make the nation strong in total war. He talked about the need for simplification and standardization of all consumer goods—food, shoes, clothes—to save manpower and energy. Much of this was lost sight of in the debate over wages and farm prices.

Very little has been done to cut into the soft cushion of civilian life here at home. The comparison with Britain is striking. In England, for example, bakeries bake bread of one standard, the national loaf, which is long on nutrition and short on frills.

The power has existed to take these steps. Just as the power has existed to transfer men from unessential to essential jobs. These powers have not been used and we are suffering the consequences today.

The men who are working out the new plan to sweep in all eligible fathers behind the supply will equal the demand. They are confident the army's needs will be met. But the delays have been costly. Industry has suffered. We must pay in production output for the method of grab.

BEANS

The bean is our old standby from away back. Beans provide so much nourishment and so many vitamins and minerals that they occupy a very prominent place.

They are good when fresh and they are good when they are dried. They keep well and can be stored all winter.

There are so many different ways of cooking beans that they almost seem like a different vegetable each time.

There are a lot of different kinds of beans. Each kind has its own particular flavor.

People in different parts of the country seem to have particular ways of cooking beans.

Perhaps mother should travel some in order to learn all the different ways.

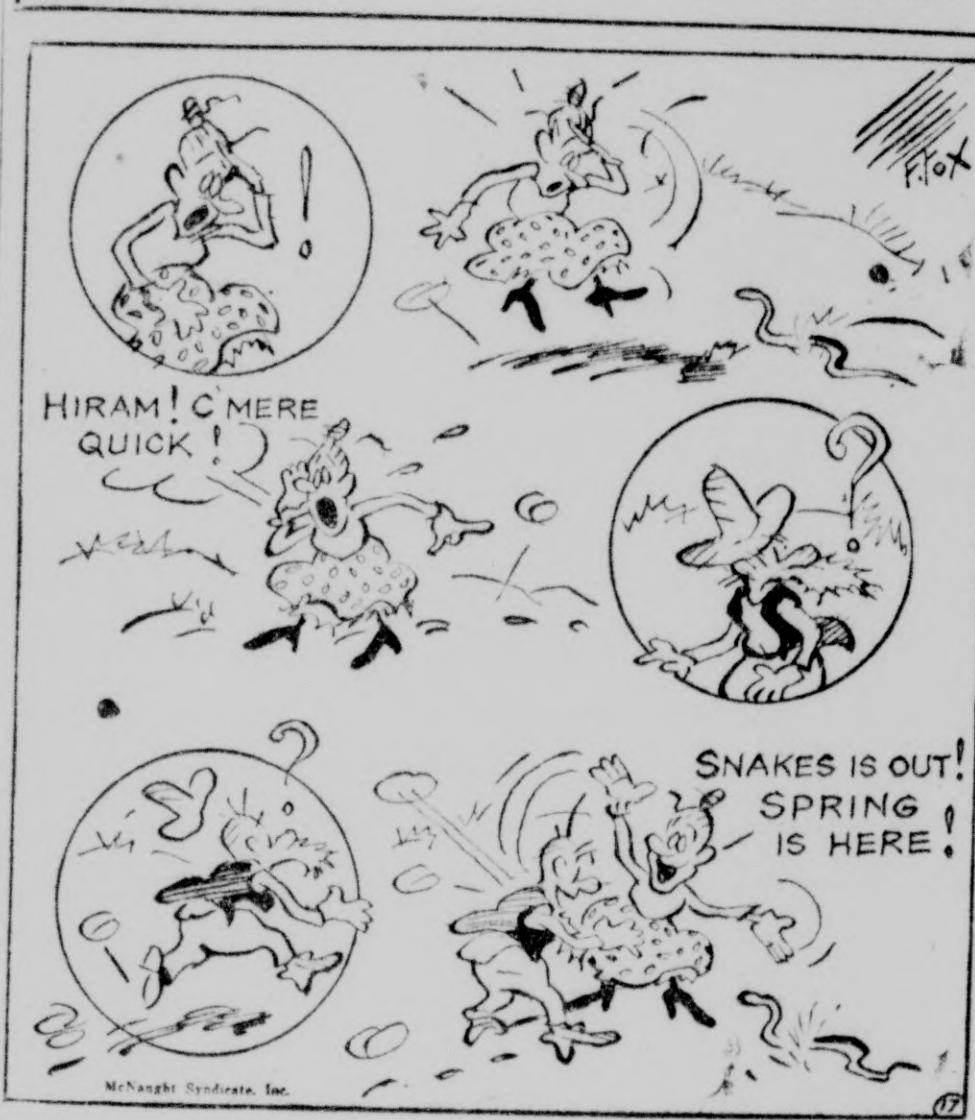

When Chuck comes home from the Army he will want beans every day. He might want them served with cold steel and gunpowder.

It is true you can fool some of the people all of the time. For instance there is the fellow who persists in going out on blind dates.

Now when Congress and the Treasury department devise an income tax form which is easy to understand, let 'em make an income tax that is easy to pay. Then everybody will be satisfied.

Good Taste

By FRANK A. PATRICK
OF THE FRANK A. PATRICK OFFICE

Develop the art of speaking slowly and emphatically using good diction and careful grammar. Rapid speakers frequently run their words together, thus "Doncha like her?" "What did you say?"

There is also danger of filling your conversation with spoonerisms if you talk at breakneck speed. And in your haste you may neglect your cases, with such frequent violations as "She came to see Marge and I" and "What did you say?"

It is also very difficult for listeners to concentrate for long on what a rapid speaker says. Sometimes his barrage of words, shot with machine-gun precision, to hold anyone's interest. Do not go to the other extreme and drag your words in a drawing manner. This is doubly so in the case of the speaker who tends to inhibit or prevent pleasure in what he says.

NEW DEAL WASTE.

In a recent survey of the New England States, conducted by the New York Times, it was disclosed that many large housing projects, built at great expense and in a hurry, now stand empty for lack of tenants. "While families in many cities search in vain for modern apartments," the Times said, "whole villages of new government housing in some parts of New York and New England regions stand dark and unoccupied."

The story went on to say that in Niagara Falls, Messina, Mineville and Geneva, New York, and in some of Philadelphia's suburbs, as well as around some of Massachusetts' war plant cities, "great rows of temporary one-story frame houses spread out mournfully as far as the eye can see, waiting still for the tenants who never came."

If that is true in New England, it is doubly true in many other sections of the country. Not likely that the federal spenders have concentrated all their mistakes in one area.

It is bad enough to see all of this waste of vitally needed building materials, this senseless expenditure of money to no useful purpose, but it is even worse from the standpoint of national confidence and morale, to note the light-heartedness in which the whole thing is reviewed by supposedly responsible officials. John R. Blandford, Jr., administrator of the National Housing Authority, was quoted as saying that the vacant houses should be classified as "war casualties." A regional director casually suggested that "you cannot blueprint a war."

The Times quoted other officials as being "not inclined to blame any particular group or set of circumstances." They never are. They aren't inclined to blame "any particular group" during the days of the depression when all sorts of fantastic housing schemes and set-temed projects were being projected, most of which, long since, have been liquidated for a few cents on the dollar. No matter what the mistake, no matter how great is the wastage of vital materials, these claimers are never inclined to blame "any particular group." The individual responsible for it is usually kicked upstairs to a new and better job when the project with which he was connected finally begins to smelt.

These officials "added that while it was unfortunate that a few districts had been overbuilt, it probably was better so than to find crying needs for housing still unmet here and there."

Evidently, then, the method has been to scatter these vast projects hither-and-yonder around the country and if there happened to be war workers to occupy them, fine; if there weren't, mark 'em off as "war casualties." Nobody could call that even an attempt to "blueprint a war."

TEACHING YOUNG CHILD
OBEDIENCE

On no subject about which I write or read do I find it so hard to make myself clear as on the matter of cultivating obedience in the young child.

Let me quote from a letter typical of hundreds of them.

"Will you please send me your special bulletin, 'How To Teach The Meaning of No?' I am enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope."

"I know it will help me in my relations with my 3-year-old son. He doesn't obey any request I make of him. I wish you would tell me how to treat him when he tells me 'No' to everything I ask him to do."

I wrote her she needs my bulletin "Stubbornness" and I sent it. Perhaps ever since she has written for my bulletin, "No" should enclose a second stamped envelope and ask also for the bulletin on stubbornness.

Since this bulletin is several times the length of a column it can make more clear the difference between keeping the child from doing a few forbidden things and getting him to do a few other things you wish him to do. The two situations are as different as day and night. Let me give two paragraphs from the bulletin on stubbornness.

"It only a child's first step in the development of the young child and principle, I could help them prevent stubbornness in the child and cultivate cooperation in him instead. Here is the principle. Pain tends to inhibit or prevent pleasure to promote. All animal life including man tends to do so and do so to avoid repeating what has brought pain. Make pleasant, therefore, what you want the child, particularly the young child, to do and painful only the few things you want him never to do again."

When To Punish
Accordingly, give the tot instant pain, without exception, when he plays with the cat, jerks into the street uninvited or calls you in decision an ugly name, saying "No" just once in a moderate tone as you do so. This very command carries pain with it. By and by this command, "No," alone will suffice to restrain the child from new acts he should be forbidden.

Answer: It is the bride's duty to acknowledge all gifts, even those sent by the bridegroom's friends. All gifts sent before and after the marriage should be addressed to the bride. In these letters, she should mention her husband's name, as George and I deeply appreciate your generosity.

Washington Report

See New Legislation Simplifying Income Tax
Congressional Joint Group Pondering Matter
Alarm Expressed Over "Over-Cutting" TimberBy HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The job of drafting legislation simplifying income taxes and tax returns is proving to be rather a slow process.

Indications are that it will be two months or more before a bill begins to take shape, and that simplified legislation will not be enacted before the middle of the year.

Right now the whole matter is in the hands of experts of the Congressional Joint committee on internal revenue taxation and the treasury. A report from Colin P. Stans, chief of the Congressional staff, is expected to be given to the House ways and means committee by the end of the month.

Argentina Causes Rift
Argentine's reluctance to break cleanly with Axis sympathizers among her governing class is threatening to cause a split in the solid anti-Axis front which has existed below the Rio Grande since the entry of the United States into the war.

As American and British pressure has increased, the South American government has sought to counteract this loss in prestige by seeking the good offices of her neighbors immediately north, who are dependent on her for foodstuffs.

To the state department in Washington this trend is viewed as a threat to the solidarity of the Western Hemisphere and provides fodder for the German propaganda machine.

Americans have assurance from OPA Administrator Chester Bowles that there will be no immediate relaxation of price control and rationing after the war.

Rationing is expected to be kept until after the first postwar harvest in Europe. OPA experts, however, that the supply of clothing and other soft goods can be brought into balance with demand when peace comes and that price controls on these items can be relaxed quickly.

Bridges Gets Boost
Governments officials are becoming alarmed at the tremendous "over-cutting" of American timber. Wartime demands for lumber have forced the nation to boost its production from 35 to 40 billion board feet annually.

According to officials, a halt must be called soon. Timber is being cut faster than it is grown. The "lid" must be clamped on immediately after military demands decline, they say, and production held under 30 billion board feet.

Political observers in Washington and New England are keeping pre-convention eyes upon New Hampshire's 45-year-old Senator Styles Bridges as a potential Republican vice presidential candidate should a standard-bearer from the far west be nominated in a surprise move.

Political observers say the senator, long a thorn in the side of the dwindling New Deal bloc in the upper chamber, is a confirmed political gambler, who would welcome the opportunity to run.

For the second time in recent days the White House has knuckled under to Congress in what Washington observers view as a significant conciliatory attitude both for the war effort and the fall elections.

The first was the bitter Barkley affair. The second was when Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, assistant to the president, refused to testify before a Senate agricultural subcommittee.

While committee members were seething, the White House headed them off with a frank letter of capitulation. It was a victory for a relatively minor Senate committee.

Three Professors At Westminster Will Be Honored

Combined Service On Faculty
Totals 100 Years; Half Century For Dr. Freeman

NEW WILMINGTON, March 17.—Three Westminster college professors who have taught at the college for a total of 100 years will be honored at a testimonial dinner given by the faculty Saturday evening at 6 o'clock.

The three men are Dr. Charles Freeman, professor emeritus of chemistry, who has been at Westminster for 50 years; Dr. Bert E. Quick, biology department head, and Dr. James A. Swindler, physics department head, both of whom have completed 25 years at the college.

"Grand Old Man" of the Westminster faculty, Dr. Freeman came to New Wilmington in 1893 to accept a position teaching mathematics, chemistry, biology and physics. When the four were separated in 1907, he became head of the chemistry department, a position he held until his retirement from active teaching in 1940.

In more than a half-century of chemistry, Dr. Freeman has taught some of the nation's outstanding scientists, including Dr. Harry Holmes, chemistry department head at Oberlin college and former president of the American Chemical Society; Dr. W. R. Veazey of the Case School of Applied Science, and many others.

Professors Swindler and Quick both came to the college in 1919. Many outstanding physicists and doctors owe their present success to the training received as students under the two Westminster teachers.

Rumor Balkans Are Seeking Way Out Of Present War

LONDON, March 17.—(INS)—Unofficial reports that a pro-Democratic government soon will replace the current military dictatorship in Rumania circulated in London today amid rumors that at least three of the Balkan states are actively seeking a way out of the war.

A Daily Express dispatch from Ankara reported that representatives of Rumania, Hungary and Bulgaria, "some with full credentials," now are engaged in active efforts to win separate peace terms from the Allies.

AROUND CITY HALL

Council met in city hall Thursday and appropriated $350 with which the 16th Regiment band which will be part of the local company, can purchase music stands and also pay for repairs to instruments. State law makes such an appropriation legal.

Council authorized the city clerk Thursday in city hall to ask for bids for the painting of the Mahoning Avenue Viaduct. Should the bids prove acceptable each of the railroads, county and city, will pay their pro rata share of the paint project.

Upon motion of Health Director D. O. Davies, council in session in city hall Thursday offered the U. S. Treasury department $667.21 for a used truck at the NYA center. The treasury is disposing of material there and Davies stated the garbage department needs the truck.

Chester Sweeney today requested city council to have the sewer bureau clean out the storm sewer which flows in the Shenango river, south of the Grant street bridge. Director James Gibson said that Carmi Glover, sewers superintendent, has it cleaned whenever needed. Council decided to view the situation.

Castle Engineering company has requested city council for sanction to close an alley running from Shadyside 150 feet west to The Arena where essential materials are to be assembled. Council proposes to hold a view before granting the permit.

Dehydrated Meal Served To Officers At Camp Reynolds

GREENVILLE, March 17.—Ninety Camp Reynolds officers smacked their lips as they sat down to supper at the Eighth Group mess hall—and no wonder. The menu featured navy bean soup, baked meat loaf with gravy, hashed brown potatoes, harvard beets, buttered carrots, hot rolls, apple, custard and cranberry meringue pies, and coffee.

Not until the meal was well advanced were the officers told by Lieut. Bernard J. Waters of Camp Reynolds sub-school for cooks and bakers, that everything about the meal was dehydrated except the dishes.

Foods in shredded and powdered form were used in preparing the sample type of meal served overseas to save storage space and time in preparation.

With the approval of Major Howard Olsen of the Eighth Group, officers are receiving a three-hour series of lectures and demonstrations showing the practicability of dehydrated foods, their preparation and storage.

Today the average freight train runs 36 per cent faster than in 1920 and carries 40 per cent more tons of freight.

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 17.—The U. S. Civil Service Commission's hearings of alleged Hatch act violations by 14 Republican health department officials and employees has posed the old question: "What is a voluntary contribution?" . . . Witness after witness told L. V. Meloy, of Washington, D. C., commissioner counsel, that they gave contributions ranging from $5 to $100 "voluntarily" either because they believed it was expected to them or due to party loyalty. . . . There has been no secret on Capitol Hill that campaign fund managers during the second administration of former Gov. Gifford Pinchot inaugurated a "three per cent club" while Democratic financial lieutenants fixed a sliding scale ranging up to five per cent of annual salaries.

A sidelight of the hearing was the appearance of two sons of accused department officials to represent their fathers before the commission. Charles R. Reynolds, Jr., of Harrisburg, was counsel for his father, a former army surgeon general and a soldier for more than 40 years. . . . John H. Stewart, of Warren, represented his father, Secretary of Health A. H. Stewart, of Indiana. . . . Reynolds was surgeon general when Gen. Douglas MacArthur was army chief of staff under President Hoover.

The National Education Association, an affiliate of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, has recommended that consideration of the proposed universal military service act be postponed until after the war. . . . The association's executive committee said "we should get along with the war and win it; then with deliberate and studied care take such steps as are necessary to plan the future security of the nation."

The bill provides that every able-bodied male citizen and alien shall be subject to one year of military training upon attaining the age of 17 years. . . . Upon the completion of training, each trainee shall be enrolled as a reservist for eight years and be subjected to occasional "refresher" courses as may be recommended by the president or prescribed by law. . . . The House Military Affairs committee has scheduled a public hearing on the proposal within a fortnight.

Robert L. Myers of Camp Hill, former secretary to Gov. George H. Earle, is being rumored for probable appointment by Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence as campaign manager for the Democratic organization's ticket for the April 25 primary. . . . Myers formerly served as chairman of the Workmen's Compensation board of review and deputy attorney general. . . . Lawrence has returned from Florida, where he spent several weeks, to take charge of the campaign.

BELIEVE REPLY MADE TO POPE

LONDON, March 17.—(INS)—The Vichy radio asserted today that the American charge d'affaires at the Vatican has handed Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state, a note from U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

The American note, the enemy-dominated broadcast said, referred to allied raids on Rome and was believed to be a reply to the pope's recent speech in which the pontiff called upon the warring nations to spare the eternal city.

There was no confirmation of the enemy statement in any official allied circles.

HALT FREE-FOR-ALL

Usually police appreciate good boxing bouts but they frowned upon street brawls, so when Policemen John Young and James Logan last night witnessed from a bus a free-for-all between Mike Horvath and Mike Presnar in Long avenue, they left the bus, arrested both and in police court today Mayor John P. Haven fined each $5 for engaging in the illegal battle.

Chaplin Appeal Is Turned Down

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—(INS)—An appeal to the California Supreme Court was Comedian Charlie Chaplin's only chance today to keep Joan Barry's paternity suit from coming to trial before a jury.

The District Court of Appeal yesterday refused to issue an alternative writ of mandate which would have forced Superior Court Judge Stanley Mosk to throw the case out without it coming to trial.

The court thus upheld Judge Mosk's ruling that the paternity suit filed by Chaplin's former protegee should be heard in court despite a stipulation entered into before the birth five months ago of Miss Barry's baby. The agreement stated that should blood tests show Chaplin could not be the father the charge would be dismissed. Blood tests subsequently indicated Chaplin was not the father.

TWO WAR MATERIALS INSPECTORS KILLED

RANKIN, Pa., March 17.—(INS)—Army and Navy officials today are investigating the deaths of two government war material inspectors who were killed instantly when their automobile was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad freight train in Rankin.

The men were identified as Naval Inspector Leslie B. Radler, 39, of Pittsburgh, attached to the office of inspector of naval materials and Army Inspector Raymond J. Cronin, 32, of Baltimore, who worked for the third transport zone, Army supply branch of Philadelphia.

In case of the death of the president of the United States, the vice president would of course succeed him.

Uses Traffic Cop Method To Halt German Tanks

WASHINGTON, March 17.—(INS)—The War Department told the story today of how an unarmed member of an American armored unit used the technique of a traffic cop to capture two German tanks on the Italian front.

Pvt. William Bow, brother of former movie star Clara Bow, was puttering around his tank in a bivouac area close to the front lines in Italy when two German Medium tanks came rumbling out of the woods straight at him.

Startled, Bow threw up his right hand in the manner of a traffic officer signaling "stop." Instead of answering with a burst of machine gun fire, the Germans actually did stop, much to Bow's surprise.

The Germans then crawled out of the tanks, surrendered and requested to see "the rifle that shoots like a cannon." The Nazi tanks had been partly disabled earlier in the day by two American soldiers armed with a bazooka.

Bow, who is from Brooklyn, is now in an American hospital convalescing from wounds suffered in a later engagement.

Migrant Male Workers Face New Handicap

PITTSBURGH, March 17.—(INS)—Migrant male workers who are continually seeking better paying jobs today will find it difficult getting out of the Pittsburgh district.

The War Manpower Commission has announced that men who want to move to positions elsewhere will not be allowed to do so by the United States Employment Service unless their cases are "highly exceptional."

The commission said exceptions would be made only in cases where a man's skill can't be fully utilized in Pittsburgh, where continuing work here might impair his health or if he wants to return to his family.

The freezing of jobs which is effective immediately, was ordered to prevent further drain on Pittsburgh's dwindling labor supply.

Unemployment Fund In State Over Half Billion

HARRISBURG, March 17.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's unemployment compensation fund passed the half billion dollar mark today and was hailed by Secretary of Labor and Industry William H. Chesnut as a bulwark against any ill-effects postwar unemployment may bring.

State employers have paid more than $687,980,000, representing 27 per cent of all wages paid since the fund was first established in 1936 to aid unemployed workers.

More than $213,897,000 have been distributed in jobless benefits during the seven years the law has been administered, Chesnut disclosed.

Deer Prove Pests In South Pacific

New Caledonia's Hunting Season On Deer Lasts All Year

NEW CALEDONIA—(INS)—Every day in the year is open season for deer hunting in New Caledonia, where vast deer herds have been such a nuisance that bounties were offered for their hides.

American troops stationed here on their way to and from the battlefronts found they could add diversion to their lives and variety to their company mess by going into the hills and bagging a supply of venison with their M1 rifles.

Soldiers may go hunting deer only with the consent of their company commander, who must satisfy himself that the men are thoroughly qualified to handle a rifle.

Herds Soon Multiplied
The experience is, however, looked upon as a highly effective means of improving a soldier's self-reliance, initiative and marksmanship.

Originally there were no quadrupeds of any kind in New Caledonia. The natives lived on vegetables, birds and sea food, with occasional feasts of "long pig" when there was a battle or a wedding was condemned to death by the tribal council.

Sportsmen brought deer to the island some 60 years ago. Early settlers also brought with them cattle and other livestock.

There was no profitable outlet for pigs and cattle raised in New Caledonia because Australia and New Zealand dominated the export market. As the herds multiplied many of them became so wild that they had to be hunted like wild game.

The deer, left to their own devices by the natives, who depend largely on goats for their meat supply, increased in numbers rapidly. They became pests like jack-rabbits and cotton-tails in the United States. There were no wolves or other carnivorous animals to bring about a natural control of the size of the deer herds.

The deer are sometimes hunted commercially, with the help of dogs trained to round them up and chase them into a river, where a boatman paddles up and slits the animal's throat. Only the hide and some of the choicer cuts of meat are saved.

Hides bring about $1 on the market. They are exported to Australia, an item that averages $80,000 in the island's annual income.

The Army has brought prosperity to New Caledonia stockmen by providing a market for their livestock.

Miss Cohen Becomes WAC On Birthday

Will Be Assigned To Deshon Hospital On Completion Of Basic Training

Miss Phyllis Dorothy Cohen, aged 21 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cohen of 433 Boyles avenue, was sworn in Thursday by Lt. Jo Ann Stikeman, local WAC recruiting officer, the date being her birthday. She will report to Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., for basic training, which consists of a five weeks course, after which she will be assigned to Deshon General hospital for duty as a dental technician.

Deshon hospital needs many more women like Miss Cohen to aid in the rehabilitation of our fighting men, as it is stated that every nurse who can be spared at the hospital will be sent overseas, and their places will be taken by WACS, and Nurses Aides.

Women between the ages of 20 and 50 are urged to investigate the possibilities of service at Deshon hospital. Lieutenant Stikeman states that she will be happy to take any woman qualified to Deshon hospital at their convenience, where they may find out for themselves the kind of work the WACS are doing there.

President Has Praise For YMCA

Commends Institution As Embodiment of Democratic And Christian Ideals

"The Y. M. C. A. is the embodiment of those democratic and Christian ideals for which we are fighting," President Roosevelt declared today in a statement sent to R. L. Meermans, general secretary of the New Castle Y. M. C. A. in connection with the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Y during 1944. The President's complete statement follows:

"The observance during 1944 of the 100th anniversary of the Young Men's Christian association should be a significant occasion, not only in the United States but elsewhere in many parts of the world. Serving without distinction of nationality, race, or religion, the Y. M. C. A. is the embodiment of those democratic and Christian ideals for which we are fighting. Its many contributions to the physical, intellectual, and spiritual well-being of boys and young men add up to an impressive humanitarian total. I trust that this centenary year of the Young Men's Christian association will witness an increase in good works, a renewal of dedication, and a strengthening of hands for service for the years to come."

Start Testimony On Conduct Of Federal Judges

SCRANTON, Pa., March 17.—(INS)—Initial testimony was being taken today in Scranton by a congressional group investigating the official conduct of Federal Judges Albert W. Johnson of Lewisburg and Albert L. Watson of Scranton. Two members of a sub-committee of the House judiciary committee arrived last night from Washington to open the probe, which was authorized by the House of Representatives last January.

Rep. Estes Kefauver (D) Tennessee, chairman of the sub-committee, said he was prepared to hear all persons wishing to aid the inquiry into the conduct of the two members of the Pennsylvania Middle District Court. Kefauver was accompanied by Rep. Chauncey W. Reed (R) Illinois and Frank Connell, clerk of the House judiciary committee. Congressman Hatton W. Sumner (D) Texas, chairman of the House judiciary committee, who had planned to be present also, was unable to make the trip.

The sub-committee will remain in Scranton today and Saturday before returning to Washington. Kefauver said his group was interested only in "seeking information" to submit to the judiciary committee. He added that no formal hearings were planned at present.

"We are accepting only voluntary statements and want to get at the facts," he declared.

The Airgraph section of the British Post Office department reports that it receives each week 150 stamped V-mail forms with nothing written on them, while 210 are stamped and addressed but with no message, and about 2000 with no address.

Governor Martin Awaits Copy Of Bill For Voting

Says He Cannot Reply To President Until Soldier Vote Bill Is Studied

HARRISBURG, March 17.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin disclosed on Thursday that he has received a communication from President Roosevelt asking his views on the proposed federal ballot for the armed forces.

He told his news conference that he had not yet received a copy of the bill, which is now awaiting the president's action, he would be unable to reply until later.

Upon receipt of the bill, he added, he would confer with Attorney General James H. Duff and Secretary of the Commonwealth M. Morrison.

The governor's reply was expected to contain the first definite word as to whether he will convene a special session of the General Assembly to revise the state's absentee ballot laws for members of the armed forces from Pennsylvania.

Indications point to such a call for May 1.

The president wires the 48 state governors yesterday for their opinion on whether their state laws would permit the use of federal ballots and if not, whether they would take action to permit their use.

"Pennsylvania will do everything in its power so that each man and woman in the service, regardless of where located, will have the opportunity to exercise their right of franchise," the governor reiterated.

"The president has asked certain questions in order that he may act on this bill and this will be furnished him immediately after the federal bill is studied," Governor Martin explained.

ARMY SAVES LAND OF OREGON FARMERS

EUGENE, Ore.—(INS)—The army has been the godfather to farmers living north of Eugene because of its construction work.

For many years, winter floods of the Willamette river have swept the rich silt from their lands and knawed the earth from the edges of their farms living along the river. Army engineers have now built dikes along curves where the river rushes over it after winter rains.

Sunday Night Blackout Irks N. Y. Pastors

NEW YORK.—(INS)—Protestant leaders recently expressed resentment over a Sunday night blackout and air raid drill ordered for 9 p. m. by Col. Edward C. O. Thomas, New York State director of civilian protection.

Protests arose because many Protestant churches have services between 8 and 9 p. m. The feeling was that the blackout should have been ordered for 9:30, by which time the churches would be clear.

No Choice In Matter

Colonel Thomas explained that a Sunday night was selected for the test because the army limits blackouts in the New York area to Sunday nights. He recalled a recent army ruling that four blackouts must be conducted each year. "We made the blackout time 9 p. m. because we thought most church services would be over at that time," Thomas said. However, exemptions will be permitted in future when individual church applications are made. About 20 additional minutes will be granted for "lights on" during the blue signal, he declared. In such cases churches would be blacked out only for the last 10 minutes of the test.

Want Time To Get Home

The objecting clergymen included the Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo of St. Nicholas Collegiate Reformed Church, Fifth Avenue, president of the Greater New York Federation of Churches and vice president of the Protestant Council of the City of New York.

He said the welfare of the church-going population should be considered; that is, church members should be given time to return home after services.

Potatoes Will Become Alcohol

Half Million Bushels Of Pennsylvania Surplus Will Be Used

A half million bushels of Pennsylvania potatoes will be used for alcohol, according to plans developed this week in a Washington conference between representatives of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency from Pennsylvania and the vegetable section of the Commodity Credit corporation.

Pennsylvania potatoes will be purchased by county AAA committees for the Commodity Credit corporation at government support prices. They will be assembled for rail shipment to sugar beet factories in Ohio for dehydration. Shipments will begin this week in the southern counties of Pennsylvania at the rate of 15 carloads a day and will continue until the Pennsylvania surplus has been removed.

It is estimated that between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 bushels of potatoes will be used in this alcohol program. According to present plans, the Commodity Credit corporation will purchase the lower grade potatoes for alcohol production and use the U. S. No. 1 grade for human consumption. The present need for 632,000,000 gallons of alcohol for 1944 is almost 40,000,000 gallons above the demands for 1943. Synthetic rubber for tires has created this new demand. It is therefore quite possible that last year's potato crop will provide this year's tires for many farm tractors.

Island Native Returns Home

Only Gilbertese Native In Warfare Is Back At Home After Aiding Allies

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
U. S. Staff Correspondent

BETIO ISLAND, Tarawa Atoll, The Gilberts, March 6.—(Delayed)—Rudolph came home tonight and telephoned word ahead to Elsie that he was back from the wars and would see her tomorrow.

It was a novel situation for a Gilbertese native. In the first place Rudolph and his Uncle Henry were the only Gilbertese in memory who went to war. The natives of the Gilberts never in all history fought anyone. Never even had weapons, Rudolph said.

In the second place there was the telephone that permitted Rudolph, on one island, to message his wife Elsie on another. The Americans strung wires between the islands after they conquered the atoll last November.

Acts As Interpreter

Rudolph—Rudolph Muller, 27 whose father was half German—was away from home two months, serving as interpreter for army and marine troops who took Kwajalein and Eniwetok from the Japs. He speaks good English and German as well as the totally different Marshallese and Gilbertese languages. His uncle, Henry Muller of Makin, served with his as interpreter between American forces and the Kwajalein and Eniwetok natives. Rudolph finished his work on Eniwetok yesterday and flew home today. On the plane he was as jittery as any GI en route home.

"There's Makin," he said excitedly when a thin white line of surf showed near the horizon. "My mother lives there. I used to live there but now I live Tarawa."

The plane reached Abiang, the atoll six miles from Tarawa and Rudolph was as excited as a kid reaching the street next to home. He knelt on the floor of the transport plane, his nose against the window.

Like any other soldier, Rudolph was returning home something of a big shot. No, it was more than just any soldier. Rudolph was coming home in an airplane. Not many of his people had flown. Rudolph had been to war. None of his people had done that.

Lots Of Things To Tell

"You're going to have a lot to tell Elsie," a passenger said. "Yes," Rudolph said. "Lots of things. We flew more than a thousand miles today maybe?"

A little figuring showed his flight was more than a thousand miles. Rudolph was proud.

"I like to fly," he said. "I flew to Honolulu. I never saw such a big city. This morning I flew in sea-plane. This afternoon I flew in land plane."

"You and your uncle were the first Gilbertese to go to war, weren't you?"

"Yes."

"Have you seen enough?"

"No. After few weeks at home maybe I can go some place again. I get experience. I'd like to go again."

The plane landed and raced down the runway.

Rudolph forgot pride, thrill and war. He was just another husband coming home. It was too late for a boat to his home island tonight, but he was told of the telephone—new since he left two months ago—and he raced away in a jeep to let Elsie know he was home.

FIFTEEN SUGGESTIONS FOR THE BROODING OF CHICKS

Fifteen simple directions for the brooding of chicks are given by the extension poultry specialists of the Pennsylvania State College.

Provide clean, draft-free, vermin-proof quarters. Equip the brooder house with simple, easily workable ventilation arrangement. Check the stove operation before the chicks arrive. Place the feeders and waterers around the stove like spokes of a wheel.

Use two to four inches of finely broken litter. Place guard about the stove for training chicks. Increase the guard space daily until the guard can be removed in 5 to 7 days.

Operate the stove so that the chicks are comfortable at all times. Decrease the stove temperature as rapidly as possible consistent with comfort, discontinuing heat after the chicks are six to ten weeks old.

Increase ventilation as the chicks grow older; adjust several times daily to help provide house comfort.

Assure ample floor space always; one-half square foot per chick to six weeks of age, one square foot to 12 weeks, and gradually increasing to adult needs if the chicks are grown in confinement.

CLEAN FEATHERS STAY SOFT AND LAST LONGER

Keeping physically fit requires rest as well as nutritious food. A good night's sleep is the best form of rest, and clean, soft bedding means a more refreshing sleep.

Feather pillows will get soiled in spite of all precautions taken, but feathers can be washed successfully. Now that feathers have gone to war we must give what we have good care.

Pillows may be washed as they are or the feathers may be transferred to a firm cloth bag and the feathers and the ticking washed separately. Ticks that are badly soiled or stained can be given a more thorough washing when feathers are put into a separate bag. The ticking can be turned inside out.

Whether the feathers are washed in the pillow or out of it, use extra heavy lukewarm soapuds so that the feathers come out soft and pliable. When the water becomes dirty and bubbles go flat, make fresh suds and repeat the washing. Rinse three or four times in lukewarm water and squeeze out the excess moisture. Hang the pillow by the corners to keep the ticking smooth.

If you prefer to wash feathers separately, rip open part of one end of the pillow and sew the bag opening to the pillow opening, and transfer the feathers. Close the bag firmly before putting it into water.

When washing pillows, choose a clear day with a good breeze for quick drying. Occasionally punching and shaping the pillow or the bag will make the feathers fluffy.

OLMSTEAD TO ADDRESS DAIRYMEN

"Artificial Insulation" is the subject which R. H. Olmstead, Extension Dairy Specialist of the Pennsylvania State College, will discuss at a meeting of dairymen to be held in the Court House at New Castle on Friday evening, March 17, at 8 o'clock.

At the recent Dairy Day Program, Olmstead mentioned the operation of artificial breeding organizations in Pennsylvania and other States. Dairymen who were present at the meeting asked that the subject be discussed further.

Anyone interested in dairying is invited to attend and join in the discussion.

IT PAYS TO KEEP THE BARN DRY BEHIND EAVES

Keep the dairy "dry behind the eaves," in order to protect the health of the housed animals and to prevent decay and rotting of the barn structure itself.

Every cow breathes out about 5 quarts of water every 24 hours, according to extension agricultural engineers of the Pennsylvania State College. This water condenses on the beams, ceilings, and even on the roof and in the hay overhead if ventilated through the hay holes.

Ventilation through doors and windows does not carry off much of the water or else chills the cows. A real ventilation system is necessary for most dairy barns. Plans for a simple home-made system which any farmer can use to keep his barn warm may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office No. 205 Post Office Building, New Castle.

Cost of new stable ceilings and beams, and hay lost through moldiness, can be saved by a ventilation system. Ventilation also helps prevent rusting of metal roofs and of nails that hold the roof tight. The same principle applies to shingles.

URGES CARE IN BUYING VEGETABLE GARDEN SEED

Lawrence County home gardeners should be more careful than usual when buying their seeds this year. There will be enough seed of most vegetables this year but only if none is wasted.

One of the most patriotic things that gardeners may do is to purchase only the amount of garden seed which they are actually going to plant. Very small amounts of some kinds of seed will be sufficient for a large home garden.

However, the opposite is true of some other vegetable crops and the mistake often is made of buying too little seed. This is particularly true of beans, lima beans, and sweet corn. Vegetable gardening extension specialists of the Pennsylvania State College explain that some beans will run only 30 to 40 seeds per ounce and such will require about 1 pound to plant 100 feet of row.

Sweet corn is not planted so close together in the row as are beans, so that 4 ounces of seed generally is enough for 100 feet of row.

Beet seed is quite light and although it is large, 1 ounce of seed generally is sufficient for 100 feet of row. Even then, thinning usually will be required, not because the seed was planted too thick, but because each "seed" really is a fruit and contains 2 to 6 individual seeds, all of which are capable of producing separate plants. Gardeners are cautioned not to buy more beet seed than they intend to plant.

MACHINE DARNING AID TO BUSY HOMEMAKER

Using the sewing machine to darn worn spots or tears is economical of time and makes neat mends. Machine darning may show more than hand darning depending upon the material and the skill with which the work is done.

The first step in machine darning is to reinforce the worn place with a piece of material the same as in the garment. Place the patch on the wrong side of the garment, extending it well beyond the worn spot. Baste in place. Thread the

Babson Devotes Column To Just Friendly Advice

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1944—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON PARK, Fla., March 17.—I am writing to the several million of colored people in this country. Moreover, I do so as a friend—one who has contributed money and time to help them.

The way you are foolishly spending money today is a shame and disgrace. Not only are most of you now wasting money, but you are almost certainly winning your friends that you are unworthy to have good wages. You are showing an utter disregard of any knowledge of finances or economics.

Present high wages cannot continue. Many of you will be out of employment after the war. Millions of war workers will be discharged and although it will be unjust—you will be discharged first. Therefore, you should save up money now to help you in these hard days ahead. Most white workers are now doing this.

Why So Lazy? Some of you foolishly refuse to work if you have a little cash in your pockets. This applies to great strong men and women as well as to your young people. Too many of you seem to have no regard for the needs of the country in this crucial hour. You are citizens as well as the white workers. You claim you are not treated right. I do not agree to this; but it is true, it is because so many of you are lazy and wasteful.

I am writing this in the south where I have worked with colored people for 20 winters. I have fought for you and not you out of jail when the sheriff unjustly arrested you. I know your good points and weak points; but I never before saw you in the lazy, wasteful and saucy moods that some of you put on today. From letters which I get, I fear you are behaving worse in the north than you are here in the south.

Depend Upon Aunt Eleanor Many of you say, "Aunt Eleanor will take care of me after the war."

Perhaps Aunt Eleanor may not be the President's wife after the war! President Roosevelt may not be re-elected. Besides, even Mrs. Roosevelt is getting out of patience with you. She is beginning to wonder if she may not have made a mistake in praising you as she did. It is true that white workers strike when they shouldn't, but they are not lazy nor do they throw away money.

Does it ever occur to you what would happen to our country if all the people—white and colored—acted as so many of you colored people act? We would lose the war and we all, including you, would be slaves of the Germans or Japanese. Your attitude simply does not make sense from any point of view. Therefore, as a friend, I beg of you all to get all the work you can get; work as faithfully as you can; and, save, save, save!

A True Story Let me prove that colored boys have just as good an opportunity to succeed as white boys. A few years ago Webber College at Babson Park, Fla., employed colored boys in the kitchen. Among them was one named James Paul Goss. The dean noticed that whereas all the others went to the movies or shot craps in the evening, James practiced for hours to learn typing. When the summer vacation came, he begged me to take him north and get him a job in an office. This I did. It was James' first opportunity.

James did so well that I brought him back to Florida in the fall. That winter he typed all my newspaper columns. In March, 1942, he was drafted. One day an officer asked if anyone of the men could type. James held up his hand. Then he was given his second opportunity. He has not held a gun since that day. He gradually worked into administrative duties. He became a corporal, a sergeant, a second and then a first lieutenant. He now is a captain with savings of $5,000 in bank and life insurance values. When one of his colored friends was asked why James got on so well he replied: "Well, you know, James does not drink or smoke; he works and saves and reads his Bible every day." Last week James was given his third opportunity, at Camp Springs Army Air Field, Washington, D. C.

Special Session Expected May 1 If Call Is Made

HARRISBURG, March 17.—(INS)—The Republican state organization today decided to stake all upon the results of the presidential balloting this year and oppose a split ballot in Pennsylvania.

Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor announced that the Republican executive committee, at a meeting yesterday, decided without a dissenting vote to oppose a split ballot.

As a result, it was considered almost certain that the general assembly will not enact such legislation in the event it is called into special session by Gov. Edward Martin to revise the absentee ballot law for members of the armed forces. Indications point to a special session call for May 1.

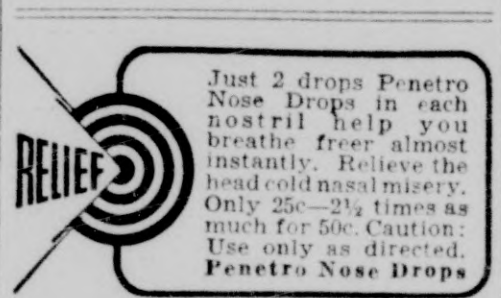

Airman Nephew Gets Citations

J. F. McConnell of 108 South Crawford and sister Mrs. Flora McCurdy, of 205½ South Crawford avenue, have received word that their nephew, First Lieutenant Ralph G. McConnell, bombardier-navigator of a B-26 Marauder bomber in England, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

The citation states that the award was made for his "great courage and marked proficiency" during 32 missions over Western Europe. He has completed 43 missions, the last three having been extremely hazardous, with his plane sustaining severe damage. He also holds the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters.

Lieut. McConnell, is a son of Rev. J. C. McConnell, brother of the former, and Mrs. McCurdy. Rev. McConnell is pastor of the Miller Memorial Presbyterian church, Upper Darby. He spent his younger days on a farm near Leesburg, and is well known in this community. Another son, Norman McConnell, is an Army chaplain, and is also overseas.

Nurses Aides Graduation Is Public Event

Dr. R. F. Galbreath To Make
Graduation Address For Red Cross Nurses Aides On March 23

Nurses aides of the American Red Cross who have completed the required course of training at both the Jameson Memorial and New Castle hospitals, will be capped at a special ceremony in the auditorium of George Washington junior high school at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, March 23. The public is invited to attend the exercises, sponsored by members of the Kiwanis club.

Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of Westminster college, will have the graduation address.

A program has been outlined, lasting approximately one hour and 45 minutes. The last 35 minutes will be devoted to highly dramatizing the "Story of a Nurses Aide". The inside story of a nurses aide's duties, routines observed and the true meaning of what this volunteer service means to the community, will be presented in cleverly arranged skits.

Special music will be provided by the senior high school orchestra under the direction of J. F. Replegle.

A soloist, Mrs. William Felch, will sing "When the Lights Go On Again", the theme of the evening's program.

Friends, relatives and families of nurses aides owe it to this group of ladies in blue to be present on Thursday night and get a better idea of what they are actually doing in the hospitals of New Castle in this war emergency program. Their services have been a Godsend to communities throughout the United States. The program on March 23 will have a wealth of meaning in bringing to the public a better realization of their value in caring for the sick. There is no admission fee.

A rehearsal (not dress) will be held Tuesday night, March 21, in the school auditorium of all aides, committees, and others taking part in the ceremony.

ANALYZE POPULARITY OF QUIZ PROGRAMS
NEW YORK—(INS)—Columbia University scientists, in tests to determine public reaction to newspaper, books and magazines, report that popularity of quiz programs actually stems from the public's delight in "stumping the experts". The human ego plays an important part of such audiences reaction, says Prof. Paul F. Lazarsfeld, head of the university's office of radio research. Lazarsfeld also says that women listen to radio dramas because they find—or hope to find—some answers to their own problems in the shows.

R. E. Johns Presented With Handsome Scroll

Director Of Former Apollo
Club Given Testimonial
Thursday Night

Richard E. Johns, the only director of the Apollo club ever had in its many years of existence, was honored Thursday night, March 16, when a group of former club members met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilfrid Thomas, Summer avenue. Mr. Thomas is the president of the club which in the past ten years has done no concert work but meets every year for a reunion.

At the October reunion Mr. Johns could not be present due to the fact that he had gone to Texas to see his son Sherwood, who entered the armed forces at that time. At that time a testimonial scroll was prepared, the art work being done by Ivan A. Wetmore of Youngstown, a member, and signed by all members and their wives who were present. The scroll was presented to Mr. Johns Thursday night. Later a lunch was served by Mrs. Thomas, assisted by her daughter Miss Margorie and Mrs. Edwin Williams of Youngstown, O.

The Apollo club was organized in October, 1912, and for many years was a leading male glee club in this part of Pennsylvania. Mr. Johns was named director upon the night of the organization, a position he held during all the years the club active.

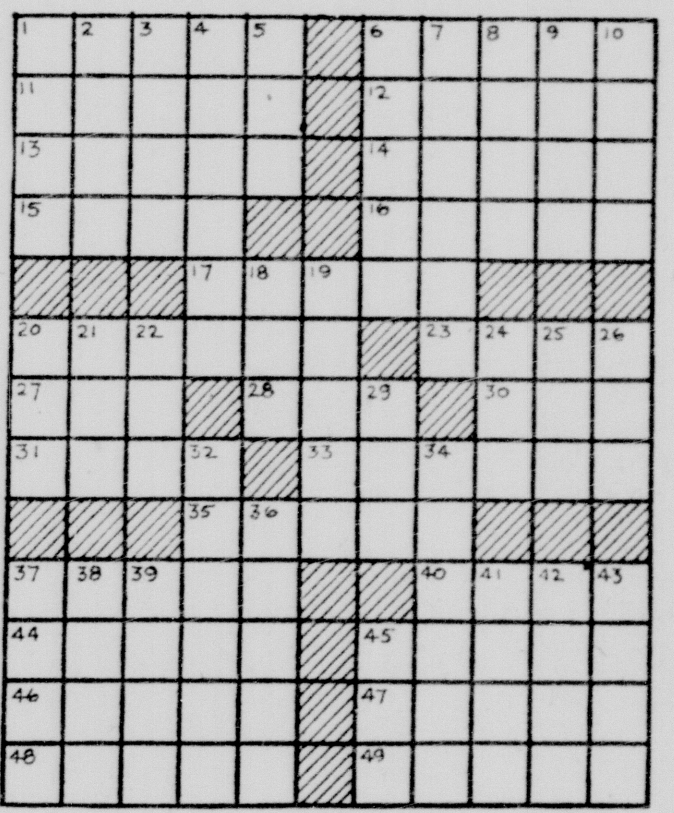

One singing was enjoyed Thursday night, directed by Mr. Thomas, and a number of solos presented by soloists among the group.

Wilson To Appeal For New Trial In Court At Mercer

MERCER, Pa., March 17.—(INS)—Attorney Ben H. Marks today indicated he would appeal for a new trial for Everett Wilson, wealthy Mercer dairyman found guilty on six charges of being an absconding witness during the prosecution of a suspect in the triple slayings on his farm last October 7.

The same jury acquitted him, however, on a seventh charge of failure to appear before the December grand jury. The six charges on which he was found guilty involved the trial of William A. Morell, 20-year-old parolee, convicted of manslaughter in the death of Wilson's wife, Helen, 48.

Marks said the petition for a new trial will be based on the contention that the subpoena served on Wilson for appearance before the grand jury did not require his presence at the Morell trial.

Wilson was on a fishing trip in Canada at the time of the triple slayings.

Several thousand sacks of income tax mail yet to open.

NEW YORK, March 17.—(INS)—Several thousand sacks of mail still remain unopened today in the offices of the three internal revenue collectors in New York with unofficial estimates of tax money paid running as high as $643,000,000.

More than 3,500,000 individual and corporate income tax returns were filed, officials said, with new records set in two of the revenue districts.

Special crews were at work in all offices attempting to clear the accumulated mail before the beginning of next week when the work of mailing the April 15 deadline estimate of income for 1944 will start.

BETTY HUTTON'S HAIR DRESSER BECOMES WAVE

HOLLYWOOD, March 17.—(INS)—Doris Harris, who arranges the blonde curls of Betty Hutton for the movie cameras, today gave the whole thing up because she fell in love with a uniform.

It all happened in a few minutes. The Paramount studio is going to star the dynamic Betty in a musical where she plays the part of a wave. They sent some uniforms out to the house for the actress' inspection.

Betty's hair-dresser (a cinema queen's traditional confidante) tried on one of the smart outfits.

"That's for me," she said. And, without further ado, she went down and enlisted.

These young ladies are graduates of Janssen Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, class of '42, and have been serving as nurses at that hospital.

They are enrolled for a ten months course at Vanderbilt university, Nashville, in ward management and teaching.

Mrs. Robert Doyle of 1617 Highland avenue also a graduate of the same class, gave a farewell dinner recently honoring the three nurses.

After the dinner, there was open house, when members of the class attended, and the evening diversions consisted of cards, games and music.

Miss Book was also surprised with the observance of her birthday anniversary, when refreshments were served with a large birthday cake gracing the table.

The honor guests were the recipients of some lovely gifts.

Black Market

In Whisky Hit

CHICAGO, March 17.—(INS)—First great blow against the black market in whisky left the Chicago headquarters of a syndicate allegedly operating on a national scale in police hands today.

Information which Detective Sgt. Timothy O'Connell obtained when he personally accepted orders over long distance telephone brought several of New York's Broadway night clubs, Miami, Hot Springs and Los Angeles drink and dance places under federal surveillance.

Instead of the whisky which they ordered in lots up to 200 cases, the purchasers were due to receive visits from Federal Bureau of Investigation and Federal Alcohol Tax unit agents.

Sgt. O'Connell answered the telephone in the syndicate headquarters, in a suite on the 13th floor of a La Salle street office building, from 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon until 9 last night. He said he took orders for thousands of cases of whisky.

Under arrest so far were two women and four men, including two north side tavern representatives whom Sgt. O'Connell said he lured to the office by promising to sell them 200 cases of liquor.

Beau Jack Favored To Whip Bummy Davis Tonight

Lightweights To Fight Ten-Round Encounter

Jack's Crowding Tactics Figure To Baffle Recent Conqueror Of Montgomery

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, March 17.—One of the most chaotic and satisfying parleys of all time will be continued tonight when Beau Jack, of Augusta, Ga., meets Al (Don't call me Bummy) Davis, of New York, in a ten-round contest at Madison Square Garden.

Jack has been established as an 8 to 5 favorite, in the face of the terrifying fact that the last four favorites in Garden main events have wound up with nothing but the booty prize and a couple of lumps.

For the benefit of long-shot players who seek continuation of this lucrative skein of mishaps, we hasten to mention the fact that Beau Jack has never before faced a puncher like Bummy. The leering young swagman who booted Referee Billy Cavanagh in the shins two November ago could tell an ox with his vaunted left hook.

Davis Unpolished
The only trouble with Bummy is that he's a trifle unpolished in the ring and acts in the manner of a rifleman who, before deigning to drill the enemy, spreads canvas upon the soil, wets his front sight and spends half an hour in adjusting the wind compensator. Bummy needs room; he cannot be crowded, and he requires time to gauge the trajectory of his left hook.

Unfortunately, Jack is a crowder, if nothing else. He fills the air with whirling leather, disturbing the former with latter but seldom hitting his opponent.

No matter whether Jack wins or loses tonight, he always will remain a fan's fighter. In 11 Garden main events, The Beau has piled up for Jacobs and his Twentieth-Century club the nice sum of $814,654.

Nine holes of the new 18-hole golf course at Waco (Tex.) Army air field soon will be opened.

Andrews Stars, Cubs Win, 39-35

"Billy" Andrews scored in the second overtime period to give the Cubs a 39-35 House Basketball league victory over the Tigers last night on the YMCA floor.

The Ne-Ca-Hi star ran up 18 points during the night to lead the attack for the winners. Tuscano featured for the losers with 14 markers.

North-South Golf Toga To Hamilton

PINEHURST N. C. March 17.—(INS)—Bob Hamilton, professional from Evansville, Ind., who has been little known in major tournaments previously, took home with him today the $1,000 war bond first prize as easy winner of the $2,000 north and south open golf championship.

He came in with a rush in the final two rounds yesterday, shooting a 70 for the first 12 holes and a 71 for the second. The 70 was the lowest of the tournament. His 286 total gave him a seven-stroke advantage over the runner-up, Bobby Cruikshank of Richmond, Va., who finished with 293.

Third place went to Sgt. Clayton Haefner of Camp Croft, S. C., who had a bad third round of 79 and required 294 strokes for the 72 holes.

Washington High Cagers Honored

"Bill" Klee Key Speaker During Affair Thursday; Letters Awarded

William "Bill" Klee, org. of Ne-Ca-Hi's assistant coaches, delivered the featured address during yesterday's banquet honoring George Washington junior high's basketball squad. The event was held in the school cafeteria.

Klee, who has been affiliated with the sports scene here for many years, both as a player and coach, presented several interesting views regarding the cage sport. He stressed the physical and mental side and placed the game right at the top with other sports.

Turning briefly to the current war, Klee stressed the condition of the Yanks and credited American sports for the physical development.

Thacker Speaker
Principal B. K. Thacker congratulated the team for its fine spirit and asserted that the boys got their share of fun out of the game despite the fact that the season record wasn't too bright.

Coach Arthur Alexander, toastmaster, stepped out of his role for a few moments to laud his proteges for the excellent display of cooperation and willingness. Alexander ventured the belief that the athletes gained considerably, physically and mentally, out of the game.

The fete, a chicken dinner affair, was sponsored by the school. Letters were awarded to Anthony Marouli, Mike Samiac, Ted Nelson, Albert Taylor, Edward Allison, Richard Clark, Don Black, James Preston, James Peas, Student Managers Jack Kelley and James Chmelfelter; Cheerleaders Shirley Urban, Patricia Bili, Marjorie Van, Marilyn Sander, Jacqueline James, Jane Urban and Barbara Van.

As they approach their "rubber" game with Evans City high, tonight on the Butler County court, Wampum high's Indians can look back and point with pride to the enviable record compiled this season.

The Section 21 kings, who were eliminated in the B WPIAL tourney by Evans City in the last six seconds, averaged the setback last Wednesday night, 39-33, have captured 19 decisions and suffered four defeats, two of them to Class A Ellwood City. The Hennonsmen evened the score with two of the conquerors, Bessemer and Evans City.

Offensively, the Indians assaulted the hoops successfully, hitting 1,106 points, among the top marks in the entire WPIAL. While boosting their average to 46.1 markers a game, the champs limited the adversary to 29.5 points per tussle.

Their one-handed shooting system gained district fame and proved unusually befuddling to the enemy.

Tonight, the Wampumites ring down the curtain confident of beating the club that stooped them from moving up in the WPIAL tournament.

Hennon Top Coach
Coach L. B. Hennon, despite lack of numerical strength, manages to court out crackerjacks yearly. This season's team, a junior and sophomore outfit, is one his greatest and additional proof that he rates with the top tutors of scholastic basketball in western Pennsylvania.

Guy Bennett, Section 21 all-star forward and a junior, led the champ's scoring with 239 points. James Grannen, who also was named on the star quilt flipped 271 to finish second. He too is a junior. Eddie Marich, sophomore, dunked 187 markers to push himself into the third slot.

Other scorers: Savor, 165; Rouset, 17; Porter, 18; Capalio, 12. Propolis, freshman, didn't see enough action to hit the scoring division.

The season record follows:
Wampum 19, 106
Evans City 4, 106

New Wilmington Wins Six Games

Despite Lack Of Experienced Material, "Tim" Hutchinson Builds Strong Team

In his initial season as coach of New Wilmington high, "Tim" Hutchinson piloted the "Greyhounds" last year's Class B WPIAL champs, to a half dozen victories against 18 setbacks.

When the popular college town mailman-coach took over the reins dropped by John Eagleson, who commuted to Oakmont, he was confronted with a shortage of experienced material. Every member of last season's varsity had been sheepsheeped.

Whip Stoneboro
Despite the handicap, New Wilmington improved as the season wore on and developed into a smooth operating unit before the curtain string was dropped. The season's highlight was a 39-29 victory over Stoneboro, Mercer county B champ. The boro had won 19 straights until they faced New Wilmington.

Clyde Shaffer finished as top scorer with 149 points. Fay Colburn came next with 118 and Paul Chesner pulled into the third place berth with 113 markers.

Other scorers:
Paul Chesner 49, Chuck Steinberg 56, Doug Phipps 55, E. Brockhouse 32, Ray Campbell 15, Art Shaffer 12, G. Wilson 8, Walt Miller 8, Alvin Achison 2, D. Whitman 2, K. Whitman 1, J. Serra 1.

Secretary Hull Says Russia Did Not Consult U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 17. (INS)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull announced officially today that the United States Government had not been consulted in advance by Russia on the recent Soviet diplomatic recognition of the Badoglio government in Italy.

The secretary further said that the question of diplomatic recognition of the Italian government was one which he thought the Allied advisory council on Italy would primarily give attention to as a first step before any action was taken.

Can Collections In Schools Back At Normal Peak

Rose Avenue Is Leader In One
Group, Thaddeus Stevens
In Other

Tin can collections in the city schools were back up to the peak this week, the eleven public schools reporting total collections of 32,717. In group one, Rose Avenue took the lead away from West Side. Both schools had 100 per cent participation among the pupils but Rose Avenue had the best collection by a margin of about 1600 cans. Thaddeus Stevens was the winner in the other group with 98 per cent of the pupils lending a hand. Arthur McGill turned in the largest collection in the city. Their 10,525 was better than Thaddeus Stevens by only 23 cans. Both Arthur McGill and Thaddeus Stevens, by virtue of going over the 10,000 mark in one week, will see navy pictures of modern warfare. These pictures will be shown by Lt. Murray Armentrout of the Navy school at Westminster college.

Pupil winners are as follows: James Bryan was highest at Rose Avenue with 306 cans. James is nine years old, in grade four. At Thaddeus Stevens, Joan Mancino, age 11, grade five, with 524 cans, was the leader. The best individual collection at Arthur McGill was turned in by Charles Flannery, age 10, grade five. Charles collected an even 500 cans. City champion again this week was Elizabeth Harper, grade three, age eight. Oak Street school. Elizabeth kept up her record of over 1000 per week. This week it was 1055. These pupils will appear on the Tin Cannoneer radio broadcast next Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. from station WKST.

CORPORAL HAS DATE ON RETURN FROM SERVICE IN CHINA

PHILADELPHIA, March 17. — (QNS)—A Quaker City Marine, Corp. Joe Voelker, 21, now stationed in China with the 14th Air Force, has a date with Joe Davidson, world famous sculptor, when he comes home again.

Young Voelker's work with water colors done in spare moments have impressed Davidson so that he told a friend of the family, "The boy is talented. Bring him to see me in Bucks county (Pa.) when he comes home."

Voelker's work includes action scenes that are worthy of any art gallery. He draws his own pin-up girls too.

Recently Voelker was commended by Major Gen. C. L. Chennault for his "alertness and proper devotion to duty" in reporting an incident that "resulted in the arrest of an espionage suspect and the seizure of incriminating evidence."

Diamonds can now be cut with 40 extra facets to intensify the color of the stones and increase their brilliancy. This is a distinct advance in the century of diamond cutting experience.
